Recruitment:

Fixed-term appointment (10 years) Professor at the Graduate School of Dentistry

Background and Purpose:

As a strategic measure to further strengthen our research and educational capabilities, the Graduate School of Dentistry, Tohoku University is conducting a targeted recruitment of qualified scholars who identify as female for professor positions.

Welcoming outstanding female researchers from Japan and abroad into leadership positions will bring diverse perspectives to our research fields, serving as a driving force for breakthroughs in existing academic disciplines. Furthermore, the presence of diverse role models will have a profound educational impact on fostering the next generation of talent. With the aim of promoting Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI) this recruitment is conducted under the provisions of Article 8 of the Act on Equal Opportunity and Treatment between Men and Women in Employment (Special Provisions Concerning Measures for Female Workers) as a "positive action" initiative. This measure goes beyond merely improving numerical targets; it aims to accelerate the participation of female in research, thereby elevating the University's research excellence and driving its transformation into a world-leading research institution.

The Graduate School of Dentistry, Tohoku University, is seeking qualified candidates for the position of professor. The selected individual will engage in research and educational activities focused on Building international academic networks (experience in international collaborative research and/or lectures abroad is desirable), and Large-scale data analysis based on global standards, including next-generation international collaborative research. The Graduate School of Dentistry emphasizes the importance of elucidating the relationship between dentistry and systemic diseases through the utilization of biobank information and for building a new, data-driven framework for dental care. The position is expected to demonstrate leadership not only within the University but also through close collaboration with the Tohoku Medical Megabank Organization, local governments, professional associations, and international joint analyses in partnership with domestic and overseas biobanks.
